Timber Living high-quality wood construction

Options and features

It all starts with the right kind of wood!

The wood we use comes from responsibly managed northern forests. Northern spruce has a slow and steady growth, much slower than most other trees. It is durable, robust, lightweight and stable. It is kiln-dried to a target-moisture of an average of 12%. A timber moisture level below 20% is of crucial importance, as higher level of moisture results in damage by wood pests such as insects and fungi.

Thinking around the corner

Our corner connection is exceptionally stable, wind-tight and weather-proof.

Gluelam logs

We use min 60 mm gluelam logs for our log cabins. Gluelam logs are made of board lamellas, which are jointed lengthwise and then glued together. This type of wood gives superior stability, strength and stiffness to the building.

These walls have no ears

Upon request we use 45 mm/60 mm/80 mm/ 95 mm/ 120 mm/ 140mm thick logs for our cabins applying tongue and groove adjustment.

Other options of wallconstruction

Our strength lies in quality. Not for nothing!

Even our smallest garden cabins are masterpieces of the highest quality.

Our windows are made of laminated pine scantlings and glazed with glass packets. Aluminium sills protect the window frame and facade from weathering and environmental influences. Windows are equipped with high quality hinges.

Ray of light

Our entrance and inside doors are all made of laminated pine scantlings, door frames are cut with in-milled profile. A special feature of our doors is that they all have integrated profile cylinder locks. You are free to choose from solid wood to all glass doors.

Behind the door

Solid roof construction is made of 20 mm thick tongue and groove adjusted boards, mounted on extra strong roof purlins. Decorative fascia boards not only protect the construction, but also give an extra touch to the roof.

Wrapping up

Let's create your dream cabin together!

What about visiting our exhibition area in Tullow Co Carlow? We will be pleased to accompany you personally with our professional competence and expertise. Timber Living is a perfect partner from planning until the final assembly of your house. Be our guest and convince yourself of the quality of our products!

Yours Sincerely,
Timber Living-Team
